

Cliff Notes Chart

A one–page summary of the main argument, evidence, problem, and research move.

MAIN ISSUE

1. State the surface problem

Write the first clear point here. This should name the visible issue in plain terms.

PUBLIC CLAIM

2. Show how the problem is publicly described

Write the second point here. This should show what public voices, policy actors, or institutions claim.

ASSUMED SOLUTION

3. Identify the proposed solution

Write the third point here. This should explain what is offered as the answer to the problem.

HIDDEN PROBLEM

4. Expose what the argument assumes

Write the fourth point here. This should show what the public argument treats as obvious but has not actually examined.

RESEARCH GAP

5. Name what remains under–studied

Write the fifth point here. This should identify the empirical, conceptual, geographical, or theoretical gap.

STUDY MOVE

6. Show what your study therefore does

Write the sixth point here. This should explain how the study answers the gap and why the case matters.

One–line takeaway: the chart turns a broad public problem into a precise research problem.
